Dear Friends:

A terrible thing happened to me last week. I was at the Austin airport, on the way to a conference, and I discovered I HAD NOTHING TO READ!! I ducked into an airport store, perused the meager selection, found something acceptable- but my jaw dropped at the register- $16.00 for a paperback book??? Only the thought of 3 days without reading made me cough up that much. But there is a bit of a happy ending here. Now that I've finished said overly-expensive airport book, I can donate to the Elgin Public Library. The librarians can decide to either place it on the shelf or put it on the "Take One- Make a Donation" cart, and it will go on to another reader. They will even give me a receipt acknowledging my monetary donation. Give your own gently used books a second life (and prevent future airport crises) by donating them to the EPL.

Happy Reading-
Laura Stough
President, Friends of the Elgin Library
